

European
University
Institute

DEPARTMENT
OF LAW

ACADEMY
OF EUROPEAN LAW

ZETESIS
RESEARCH GROUP

Società Italiana
di Studi Kantiani

REASON IN PRACTICE

KANTIAN PERSPECTIVES ON ETHICS, LAW AND POLITICS

Florence, 19 and 20 May 2017

Venue:

European University Institute
Villa Schifanoia, Cappella
Via Boccaccio 121
I-50133 Firenze

Event coordinated by:

Luigi Filieri, University of Pisa
Sofie Møller, EUI

■ ABSTRACT

This conference encourages debate between historical and contemporary accounts of Kantian themes in ethics law and politics. Immanuel Kant envisaged a cosmopolitan federation of independent republics as the only way to secure peace. The means to achieving this end are the rule of law, both domestically in the form of republicanism and internationally in the form of cosmopolitanism. The Kantian perspective unites statist and cosmopolitan approaches by insisting on both the sovereignty of states as the only guarantee of popular rule domestically and on cosmopolitanism as the only guarantee of peace internationally. Kant's treatment of law and politics points towards a highest political good which law and politics ought to pursue.

Can we conceive of such a teleological structure of law and politics today? Can the highest political good be reached or is it an unrealizable aim? How are we to understand Kant's republicanism as a precondition for the federation of states? In which way can reason guide politics in a world where the majority of our leaders seem to be political moralists rather than moral politicians?

For more information please contact Sofie Møller (Sofie.Moeller@EUI.eu)

Please register here

■ EVENT SUPPORTED BY

European University Institute

Italian Society for Kantian Studies

Academy of European Law

Robert Schuman Center of Advanced Studies

Zetesis Research Group

■ PROGRAMME

19 May 2017

- 14:00-14:15 Welcome
- 14:15-15:35 Pauline Kleingeld (University of Groningen)
Kant's political theory in 1784
- 15:35-16:20 Luca Fonnesu (University of Pavia)
Kant on Responsibility
- 16:20-16:40 Coffee break (Sala Villetta)
- 16:40-17:25 Luigi Filieri (University of Pisa)
How to Rule Reason's Destiny
- 17:25-18:45 Konstantin Pollok (University of South Carolina)
Authority and Self-legislation in Kant's Critical Philosophy
- 19:30 Dinner (Giannino in San Lorenzo, Via Borgo San Lorenzo 33/35/37r, Firenze)

20 May 2017

- 9:30-10:50 Paul Guyer (Brown University)
Mendelssohn, Kant, and Freedom of Religion
- 10:50-11:10 Coffee break (Sala Villetta)
- 11:10-11:55 Sofie Møller (European University Institute)
The Legal Character of Kant's Critical Philosophy
- 12:00-12:45 Gabriele Gava (University of Frankfurt)
Crusius and Kant on Belief, Moral Certainty and Practical Justification
- 12:45-14:15 Lunch (on invitation, Sala Villetta)
- 14:15-15:00 Lea Ypi (London School of Economics)
The moral ought in as if history
- 15:00-15:45 Richard Bellamy (European University Institute)
A European Republic of Sovereign States: A Kantian Vision of the EU
- 15:45-16:05 Coffee break (Sala Villetta)

16:05-17:25 Marcus Willaschek (University of Frankfurt)
Kant's Practical Metaphysics

19:30 Conference dinner (Il Desco Bistrot at Il Guelfo Bianco, Via Cavour 29, Firenze)

■ PARTICIPANTS

Paul Guyer	Brown University
Konstantin Pollok	University of South Carolina
Pauline Kleingeld	University of Groningen
Marcus Willaschek	University of Frankfurt
Luca Fomnesu	University of Pavia
Gabriele Gava	University of Frankfurt
Lea Ypi	London School of Economics
Richard Bellamy	European University Institute
Luigi Filieri	University of Pisa
Sofie Møller	European University Institute